Piiksitammi is a short gate between lakes Muojärvi and Joukamojärvi, but it has a healthy fish population. The fish can easily swim to both directions. In the past the Piikstammi canal has been used to lower the surface of Kuusamojärvi. Because of this the stream drops over one meter on the course of 75 meters at Piikstammi. Piikstammi's fishing area is less than half a kilometer long. The upstream runs slowly, then speeds up and turns into a one hundred-meter-long rocky rapid.

Multikoski is a 150-meter-long and a quickly running stream. Below the river widens up to 100 meters wide. The best whitefish and grayling spots are in the upper part and below the rapid. Trout is easier to catch in the faster streaming parts as well. The road goes from the northern part of Multiperä to the South-East of Matkalahti. From there the walk from the car to the riverside is around 400 meters.

Syväjoki runs slowly from Joukamojärvi lake to lake Tiirakkajärvi. The river is 3,5 km long and this part doesn't have any rapids. The river is deep and the shores often abrupt. The stream has carved itself below the riverbank in many places.
